Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 29 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mist and low cloud slowly burning back to the coast.

Today:
Dull, murky start for many with outbreaks of drizzle and spells of more persistent rain. Rain easing from most parts into the afternoon, with bright or sunny spells developing in the west slowly spreading eastwards. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Mist and low cloud returning inland becoming widespread across East Anglia by midnight. Most parts dry but coastal drizzle is likely towards dawn. Some clear spells persisting in the west. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Thursday:
Dull at first with the odd spot of rain near the coast. Slowly improving in the west during the morning with some afternoon brightness developing. Staying cloudy over East Anglia. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Each morning will start dull but slowly improve. Staying mostly dry on Friday with some sunny spells. More cloud on Saturday with afternoon showers. Widespread thundery showers on Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.